GETAWAYS

Embark on a journey your whole family will love, experience the thrill of a rocket launch, and find your space on uncrowded beaches. A Space Coast getaway is a relaxing break from the ordinary with tons of unexpected and memorable moments. With lively entertainment districts, out-of-this-world attractions, and awe-inspiring natural wonders to explore, no matter what type of vacation you're looking for you'll find it here.

SPACE COAST OFFICE OF TOURISM

PLAN A ROCKET LAUNCH GETAWAY

Engines ignite. Countdown commences. Goosebumps begin. Reach a new stratosphere of excitement during a rocket launch on the Space Coast. With NASA, SpaceX and United Launch Alliance all on the scene today, more rockets are launching than ever.

Prime viewing locations are all along the Space Coast, from the centers below to piers, parks, rooftops, restaurants – even your beach blanket. Want to watch from a kayak drifting among manatees or from a catamaran in the lagoon? There's a tour for that! You'll find an interactive map of viewing options and more at visitspacecoast.com/launches.

Download the Launch Console app for a calendar of upcoming launches, livestreams, notifications and helpful tools.

Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex The closest you can get to the rockets on launch day without being an astronaut is here, as part of a viewing package sold in addition to a daily admission ticket. Launch package or not, you'll want to plan a visit to tour the launch pads, meet veteran astronauts, peer inside the windows of a Space Shuttle, train in spaceflight simulators, immerse yourself in the future of space travel, and let the kids explore Planet Play.

KENNEDY SPACE CENTER VISITOR COMPLEX

American Space Museum and Space Walk of Fame

A visit to this small-but-mighty museum is mission-critical for space geeks. It's filled with personal items from astronauts and NASA artifacts that tell the story of the people who shaped space exploration. On launch days the Space Walk of Fame is a fantastic vantage point.

Scrubbed? No worries.

If even the tiniest detail is amiss in the moments leading up to a rocket launch, the launch will be "scrubbed," or postponed. Scrubs are not uncommon, so have a backup plan at one of the Space Coast's two dozen museums or choose from a fleet of other ideas we've assembled.

Space may be the final frontier, but it's easy to feel like an explorer when you venture out into the Space Coast's natural areas. Here are some of the region's most incredible outdoor experiences.

Merritt Island National Wildlife Refuge

Indian River Lagoon

The Indian River Lagoon is an extremely biodiverse estuary, where the calm water teems with aquatic life. Learn about the manatees, dolphins, fish and birds as you sail beside the native fauna on an eco-tour. Rent your own boat or Jet Ski for the day to motor around spoil islands, or launch a kayak, paddleboard or canoe into the gentle waters. From June to October, a surreal phenomenon known as bioluminescence lights up the lagoon like stars in the night sky. Book a nighttime kayak tour for a magical and unforgettable experience.

Merritt Island National Wildlife Refuge

This sprawling preserve covers 140,000 acres of pristine habitat. Explore them via trails that wind through gorgeous open spaces and waterways, where you'll spot gators, manatees and other iconic Florida wildlife. For some of the best birdwatching in the country, join the millions of migratory birds who flock to the Space Coast during the winter!

Archie Carr National Wildlife Refuge

The southernmost beach preserve on the Space Coast, this refuge is one of the most significant sea turtle nesting sites in the United States. Sea turtle nesting season goes from May through October. Book a guided turtle walk to see nesting sea turtles in the moonlight, or take a sunrise stroll in hopes of seeing hatchlings make their way to the sea! Learn more about sea turtles at the Barrier Island Education Center.

BEACH WARNING FLAGS

A GUIDE TO LOCAL WILDLIFE

Sea Turtles, Manatees, Pelicans, and Dolphins, OH MY! Florida's Space Coast is home to so many species of animals. And there's a very good chance you'll encounter these creatures living their life in their natural habitats while you're here on vacation. It's important to not disturb these animals for any reason. Even if they seem to be in distress. Check out these quick guides to see what to do and who to call if you see an animal in distress while you're enjoying your time on the Space Coast.

If you see a sea turtle in distress contact the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (1-888-404-FWCC) or the Sea Turtle Preservation Society (321) 206-0646

If you see a bird in distress while you're on the Space Coast, call the Florida Wildlife Hospital (321) 254-8843

If you see an injured manatee while on the Space Coast, call the FWCC (1-888-404-FWCC)

BE A GOOD STEWARD TO OUR NATURAL ENVIRONMENT

Here are six ways you can make the most impact on preserving our environment for generations to come!

1// Pick up your trash

Litter is a major problem all over the world, and even on the Space Coast. All our drains lead to the lagoon and all the trash that is left on the beach washes straight out into the ocean.

DID YOU KNOW?

Along with garbage cans, there are tubes filled with grocery bags at the entrances of Space Coast beach parks. You may take one of these bags to keep your trash contained while you are on the beach, and easily collect and carry your trash to the closest garbage can when you're ready to head home. If you brought it to the beach, you need to bring it home too!

2// Properly Dispose of Fishing Gear Waste

Fishing is a way of life here on the Space Coast. From our freshwater lakes and rivers to our brackish lagoon and the Atlantic Ocean, there are tons of fish to be reeled in. However, improperly discarded fishing line, tackle, and bait is extremely dangerous and harmful to the fish and wildlife that also inhabit these waterways.

DID YOU KNOW?

There are tubes located at popular fishing spots, including piers, specifically to dispose of trashed and tangled monofilament. Follow the QR code to see a map of fishing line recycling stations created by FWC to find the closest one to your fishing hole.

3// Straws on the Space Coast

You'll notice we've got a very interesting relationship with straws and other single-use plastics here on the Space Coast. Many beachside restaurants only provide straws upon request, some have switched to paper or another, more sustainable straw option. Consider bringing your own straw or refusing single-use plastics if you have access to reusable alternatives while you are on vacation.

4// Eco-Activism on Vacation!

Many local businesses host weekly beach clean-ups to keep the beaches of the Space Coast, clean and safe for everyone. Join one, meet a local, and do a good deed on your vacation!

5// Dine at Eco-conscious Restaurants

Restaurants on the Space Coast are also very interested in keeping our destination as healthy and happy as possible. Businesses that are Lagoon Loyal and Ocean-Friendly have adopted practices that help to curb the use of single-use plastics and otherwise harmful materials like styrofoam and plastic bags.

Also, support eco-friendly attractions and businesses. By experiencing the Space Coast you can also help conserve and restore the health of the Space Coast's ecosystems. The Brevard Zoo is a beacon of our community and works extremely hard every day to keep not only the animals in their care healthy but also to keep the wild animals and habitats of the Space Coast healthy too!

6// Smart Souvenirs

On the Space Coast, your souvenirs can also have a positive impact on the environment! Several gift shops are stocked with some great gifts and mementos for visitors of every age, and the proceeds help to support the organizations that protect and conserve our natural spaces and the wildlife that lives here! Follow the QR code to learn more about souvenirs that save the environment.
